

Speech Services

All Allen Park schools offer speech therapy for special education eligible students who are found to need such service. Speech and/or language therapy may be delivered on an individual or small group basis. Speech/language therapy is geared to help support students to access the curriculum and demonstrate what they know (in their general education and/or special ed classes). Speech and language for pre-school students (who demonstrate a tested need for such service) is available as a drop-in service at a student's neighborhood elementary school.
